On Oct. 25, Sheila Jean Moran was a guest. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Tommy Doyle, Mrs. Bob Kellam and Mrs. Martin Ray Jr. For the party those attending wore Halloween costumes, with a prize for the best one going to Mrs. Bob Kellam.

Red and pink roses decorated the table where Halloween cookies, mystery pie and coffee were served.

Cosmopolitan Club Meets

With Mrs. Royce Smith Mrs. Royce Smith, assisted by Mrs. John McClanahan, entertained the Cosmopolitan Club in the Smith home on Oct. 25. Autumn flowers decorated the home. Mrs. Jim McKenzie, president, conducted the routine business meeting.

Mrs. F. M. Horton, program leader, introduced a guest, Mrs. V. R. Herndon Jr., who reviewed "To Live Again" by Catherine Marshall. Mrs. Perry Moses gave interesting insights into her hobby of sewing and one of the little dresses she had made was modeled by Miss Shannon Herndon. Mrs. Moses had presented a similar program 20 years before and at that time the same dress was modeled by one of her own daughters.

Using the Halloween motif for a salad plate, the hostesses served it with coffee or tea to 16 present.

Mrs. R. L. Broach Hostess

To Her Bridge Club Tuesday On Tuesday, Oct. 25, Mrs. R. L. Broach was hostess to a meeting of her bridge club. Bronze chrysanthemums in copper and rose colored mums decorated the home.

Mrs. Lyle Brown was high scorer for the afternoon, while Mrs. Kelly Bryant was second high. There were two tables of club members.

Mrs. R. B. Moore Hostess

To AE of the PEO Chapter AE of the PEO met on Oct. 25 in the home of Mrs. R. B. Moore with Mrs. L. D. Springer as co-hostess. A Halloween motif was used in the refreshments served, which were a dessert plate, coffee, nuts and candy.

Roses and other cut flowers graced the home, where 16 members assembled. For the program Mrs. Kenneth Powell showed some interesting slides of different parts of the world that her husband had visited while serving with the Air Force.

Tuesday Bridge Club Meets

With Mrs. S. L. Murphy Mrs. S. L. Murphy was hostess to a meeting of her Tuesday Bridge Club on Oct. 25. The two tables of players included a club guest, Mrs. Garrett Story.

Beautiful fall flowers such as chrysanthemums and roses were the floral decorations. Mrs. Hobb Jones was high scorer and the game prize went to Mrs. John Britt.

A salad plate and coffee were served.

Miss Mary Sue Stone Entertained With Party

Mrs. Charles Stone entertained with a Halloween party for her daughter, Mary Sue, Thursday Oct. 27 at the Kiddie Corner Kiddiegarten. The 18 young guests wore gay costumes for the occasion.

When games were played, those winning prizes were Marilyn Harris, Phil Butler, Dan Henry Jr., and Mike Waters. Assisting the hostess in serving were Mrs. Charles Butler, Mrs. Dan Henry, Mrs. Cannon Hollis and Mrs. Alberta O'Steen, grandmother of the honoree.

Halloween decorations were used. On the mantle was a small jack-o'-lantern and the serving table, covered with a Halloween cloth, was centered with a larger jack-o'-lantern, autumn flowers and colored leaves.

Refreshments were hot dogs, cold drinks, cookies and Halloween candy.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband and Wife Don't See Eye-to-Eye

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Is it right that my husband's son by his first marriage, his wife and their baby visit us every week of the year? They just drop in any old time, mostly on Sunday days when my husband and I are either entertaining company or our own or going somewhere. My husband says it's our duty to help the kids all we can. I have demonstrated to the point of argument.

This has been going on two years. My husband and I live in our middle fifties. Consequently this two-year-old, active, nervous baby, constantly running through our apartment, makes me nervous. I want to tell my stepson and his wife that their visits should be cut down to once a month. My husband says, "No, don't hurt their feelings." Which of us is right? — Discouraged

Dear Discouraged: Much as I would like to side with you—and certainly you have reason to be upset—I agree with your husband that it is your duty to help the kids. Letting them drop in at their own sweet will, isn't helping them, nor is it helping them to even tacitly approve of their baby running wild through your apartment. But, they must care for you, else they wouldn't come. Be their loving mother. Tell them frankly, and with affection, to phone first. Encourage them to train their baby. It's your step-grandchild.

If only for sentiment's sake, be kind to the baby's father. Actually, you should feel flattered that the little family seeks you out. If they lack direction and training, do something about it but don't turn them away!

Dear Helen:

I am the mother of two, a girl 13 and a boy 17. Both are good children. I talk often to my daughter about matters necessary to be discussed. My husband takes a nonchalant attitude toward our son. I tell him he should talk often to him. I have had to suggest to the boy what I know about such matters but I do think his father should take a more personal interest. I feel that these are our duties. There is little father and son conversation in our home. It bothers me. Am I wrong? — Bewildered Mom.

Dear Bewildered Mom: For some reason this curious inability to communicate with one another often exists between father and son. Had you been aware of this block when your son was small you might have done something about it. I doubt that you can now. At 17 your son probably knows more than you about the facts of life. Children are quick to pick up such knowledge in garbled form. If their parents don't enlighten them, more's the pity. Nevertheless, it could do no harm to have a heart-to-heart talk with your boy. Personally, I think it's the mother's responsibility rather than the father's. You should have done it long before this.

Dear Helen: About three weeks ago I dated a boy who is 17-18 am. 15. He goes to my church. One night he told me he didn't like me. This broke my heart. Next night he was going with a good friend of mine. But she is no longer a friend, because he has told her to call me all sort of names. I have ignored them so far. Now, he wants her to fight me. Walking down the street one day I passed them and she hit me. I walked away. Some kids call me chicken. What should I do? — Not Decided

Dear Not Decided: Of all the tomfooleries in a temple, I forget both of them! How could you allow yourself to be broken-hearted over a boy you've only known three weeks?

I wrote you for advice on how to impress a certain boy. Your advice must have been good for last week he asked me to go steady. I am 16 and have dated many boys but like him the best. I am so happy. Thank you for helping me.

There is still one problem—he hasn't given me a ring. I'd like him to want to give me one himself but I think he needs a few hints, never having gone steady before. I think it looks cheap for a girl to go steady without some little gift from her guy. This happened to a girl I know. I thought her boy friend couldn't care very much. Yet I know my boy friend cares for me. Have you any suggestions? Thank you for helping me impress the boy I really care for. — J. P.

Dear J. P.: You'll lose that boy if you force the issue. No male,

Compromise Sought on Arms Debate

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In an effort to head off a Soviet bloc boycott of U.N. disarmament debate, India and six other nations sought support today for a compromise proposal aimed at bringing the West and the Soviets back to the arms negotiating table.

Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon hinted at the plan Thursday night in a two-hour speech before the 99-nation political committee.

Informed sources said India has drawn up a 9-point proposal with Burma, Mexico, Sweden, Venezuela, the United Arab Republic and Yugoslavia.

Diplomatic informants said the United States reacted favorably to the proposal, but the Soviets complained it left out any mention of Premier Khrushchev's proposals.

In force the issue. No male, boy or man, likes to feel that his mind has been made up for him by a female. You might suggest exchanging some small piece of jewelry as a symbol of your affection. Start at Christmas. Save up for the gift now. It could be a tie clip, cuff links or dog tag. This might prompt your boy friend to give you the ring you long for.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful letters available. Write for "The Way To a Boy's Heart."

Ike Returns to Political Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)

President Eisenhower today took a home stretch politicking campaign with a Philadelphia speech in which he says he will stay to clear the air in the presidential campaign.

The address, a dinner sponsored by the Nixon-for-President Committee of Pennsylvania (Nixon for President), will be a major bid for support of the Nixon-Lodge ticket. It will be his third political appearance of the campaign.

als for a general and complete disarmament pact.

The Soviet Union and other Soviet bloc members have threatened to boycott the disarmament debate here unless Khrushchev's plan is accepted as the sole basis for negotiations.

The political committee has before it Khrushchev's plan, another resolution by the United States, Britain and Italy calling for a step-by-step disarmament and a special panel of experts to study inspection methods.

The General Assembly unanimously adopted a plan for surplus food to be distributed to needy nations by the Food and Agricultural Organization.

The plan was similar to that proposed by President Eisenhower on Sept. 22. PAO was asked to sell food, to be provided largely by the United States and Canada at low cost, and for the currency of the country needing it.

in the apartment for 10 years. One tenant told of his arrest said incredulously: "He was the nicest guy in the building."
Both men also are charged with failure to register with the State Department as agents of a foreign government.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said Melekh made contact with an unidentified Chicago resident through "Hirsch" in October 1958. Melekh, Hoover said, subsequently met his intended informant secretly in Chicago, New York and Newark, N.J.

The intelligence data sought, the FBI said, "included a map of Chicago showing military installations and aerial photographs of the city," which Melekh indicated were to be used for Soviet bombing purposes.

Melekh and Hirsch were held in $50,000 bail after arraignment before Federal Judge Lloyd McMahon. A hearing was set for Nov. 3.

If convicted each man could be sentenced to a maximum of 25 years in prison and fined $25,000. Since the alleged crime was not committed during wartime, the death penalty is not involved.

Melekh's seizure was the first actual arrest of a Soviet member of the U.N. staff, although charges frequently have been made that the Soviets were using the United Nations as an espionage base.

The third man in the current case, the FBI said, is Kirill S. Doronkin, formerly a film editor in the Radio and Visual Division of the Office of Public Information at the United Nations.

In January 1959, the FBI said, the United States mission at the United Nations asked Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general, to dismiss Doronkin because of his activities "in obtaining aerial photographs of the Chicago area."

Doronkin was not re-employed after his contract that terminated on March 3, 1959, and he left the country several days later.

Since World War II, at least a score of Soviet citizens with diplomatic status have been expelled from this country or have left under allegations of espionage.

Last year 556 Canadians lost their lives in fires. Of that number 233 were children.

association with Eisenhower as he campaigned through areas of Illinois regarded as primarily Republican. The nominees obviously hoped to stir enough Republicans into action to furnish him with the winning margin in the battle for Illinois' 27 electoral votes.

Gov. William G. Stratton who boarded the train at Danville predicted that Nixon will carry the state.

"We are coming up fast in Illinois and I think we are going to win it," said the governor, who is the Republican candidate for an unprecedented third term. "Nixon is going to carry Illinois. I am confident of that."

In his talk at Danville, Nixon referred to the rocks thrown at him during his Venezuela tour in 1958 and noted that some tomatoes and eggs were tossed at him Thursday in Michigan.

"I've been through some real heckling and it's not going to stop me," he said. "If there is anyone here who doesn't believe it, just try it and see."

Nixon said that his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, had contended that the economy is going sour.

"If that is true how could they afford those tomatoes and eggs?" he asked. "They were pretty good ones."

Nixon, shrugging off heckling as he campaigned through Michigan and a possible attempt to derail his train, said the purpose of the visits would be to "proclaim again America's friendship for these people, to reaffirm our trust in their ultimate deliverance."

He carried his bid for votes in the industrial states into Illinois today.

Although he twice was made a target by egg throwers and was subjected to what his press secretary called "goon squad" heckling, Nixon pronounced a whistle-stopping run through Michigan the best day of his Republican presidential campaign.

He pointed his special train toward primarily Republican sections of Illinois before a night speech across the Iowa line in Davenport. He bid for minority bloc support with the pledge to visit European Communist satellite states.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary, announced that a track in $50,000 bail after arraignment before Federal Judge Lloyd McMahon. A hearing was set for Nov. 3.

Cubans Holding 2 Mors Americans

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban police held two more Americans today "for investigation."

They were identified as Guy Thompson 51, an engineer from Seiverville, Tenn., and Meyer Fuchsberg, 42, textile executive and a New York City native.

Thompson was seized at his downtown apartment. He had been planning to leave Cuba soon to rejoin his family in the United States.

The charges if any were not announced.

"Behaving suspiciously" in a restaurant brought about detention by military officials of a Canadian variously identified as Charles Walderts or Charles Gold onbek an a Cuban companion.

Alfredo Morales, Reports from Matanzas said they were held on suspicion of espionage.

It was the third time during the day that Nixon had been a target. Badly aimed eggs, which fell far short, were tossed in his direction when he was speaking at Jackson, Mich. In Grand Rapids earlier, three tomatoes were tossed his way.

Klein announced that at one point during the motorcade, a spectator directed some profanity toward Mrs. Nixon.

The press secretary said these demonstrations from otherwise friendly crowds indicated that "organized goon squads" were attempting "disruptive" tactics.

Amendment 52 also declares that school property may not be mortgaged as collateral for school bonds. Schoolmen said non-secured bonds would be a prohibitively high rate of interest.

The amendment would remove the present constitutional guarantee against money collected for operation of schools being spent for any other purpose. It would not require, for example, that a student receiving a tuition grant use it for education,

Camden Hope's Homecoming Foe Tonight

By VINCE FOSTER
Hope Star Sports Editor

Tonight at 8 o'clock, the Hope Bobcats will play host to district-leading Camden Panthers. This will be the final district game for the Cats, who go into this game with a record of one win, three losses, and one tie. Tonight, they will observe their annual Homecoming, which will begin at 7:30 with the kickoff at 8 o'clock.

Hope is now rated 5th in the district, but Camden holds the first place position. The Panthers have been rated 2nd in AA ball, but they have dropped to 8th.

Camden has 101 points of which 42 have been scored by their outstanding quarterback, Don Lindsey, who weighs around 170. He will enter this game with a broken thumb. This will probably hamper the passing QB, who has thrown five TD passes. Bill Deal and George McCarty are two of the other backs, both weigh 180 pounds and have scored 24 and 8 points respectively. The Panthers also have two capable ends in Dickie Maxwell and John Dawson. The Camden defensive line, which average 180 pounds, has helped hold their opponents to 108 points 75 of these in the games with Catholic High. Fordyce and Pine Bluff. Camden hasn't been beaten in district play this year, and will probably be up for this game.

The Bobcats also ought to be up for this game, since it is Homecoming plus their last district game of the year. The lineup will be complete tonight with only one boy missing the game, Junior McNair. The newly elected co-captains for the Cats are QB Jimmie Lloyd and T Phillip Gilliam.

Incidentally, last weeks steaks for making the most tackles went to Phillip Gilliam and T-Bo Roberts. Come on out tonight and boost the Bobcats in their final district game.

Gophers Have Easiest Game of Top Ten

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer
Call it luck, call it fate, call it anything you want but Minnesota's Golden Gophers have the easiest pickings of any of the nation's top 10 teams on Saturday's college football schedule.

Unbeaten and ranked sixth with a 5-0 record, the Gophers are a five-touchdown favorite over Kansas State (1-5) as they look ahead to next week's battle for the Big Ten lead with Iowa, the nation's top-ranked team.

Iowa (5-0) will have two first string linemen back for its game with a tough Kansas team. Kansas will be without halfback Bert Coan.

In a Big Ten battle Ohio State (No. 8) plays Michigan State (No. 10) in a battle of survival for both. Each has one conference loss and an Ohio State victory would finish the Spartans in championship conference play. The game is televised regionally (ABC) in the Midwest and East. Second-ranked Mississippi (6-0) goes after Louisiana State, the last team the Rebels lost to. LSU beat them 7-3 last season and Ole Miss has won 10 straight since, including a 21-0 victory over the Tigers in the Sugar Bowl. This one is also on regional TV (ABC). Ole Miss also tries to protect a share of its Southeastern Conference lead with Florida. Both are 3-0 and the Gators meet tough Auburn.

There are two big ones in the East. Third-ranked Syracuse meets Pitt while Navy (No. 4) takes on Notre Dame in Philadelphia. Missouri (No. 5) still has an eye toward the Big Eight title as it plays so-so-Nebraska. Colorado and Missouri are tied for the lead with 3-0 marks while the Jayhawks are 3-0-1. Colorado has a big one against defending champion Oklahoma. Baylor, ranked seventh with a 5-0 mark, also tries to keep its Southwest Conference lead when it plays Texas Christian, which has tied its last two games.

Washington is out of the big five to play Oregon.

The other regional television game pits California at Oregon State, while Atlantic Coast Conference member North Carolina State visits UCLA Saturday night and George Washington is at Air Force in a couple of intersecting games.

Unbeaten and ranked sixth with a 5-0 record, the Gophers are a five-touchdown favorite over Kansas State (1-5) as they look ahead to next week's battle for the Big Ten lead with Iowa, the nation's top-ranked team.

Iowa (5-0) will have two first string linemen back for its game with a tough Kansas team. Kansas will be without halfback Bert Coan.

In a Big Ten battle Ohio State (No. 8) plays Michigan State (No. 10) in a battle of survival for both. Each has one conference loss and an Ohio State victory would finish the Spartans in championship conference play. The game is televised regionally (ABC) in the Midwest and East. Second-ranked Mississippi (6-0) goes after Louisiana State, the last team the Rebels lost to. LSU beat them 7-3 last season and Ole Miss has won 10 straight since, including a 21-0 victory over the Tigers in the Sugar Bowl. This one is also on regional TV (ABC). Ole Miss also tries to protect a share of its Southeastern Conference lead with Florida. Both are 3-0 and the Gators meet tough Auburn.

There are two big ones in the East. Third-ranked Syracuse meets Pitt while Navy (No. 4) takes on Notre Dame in Philadelphia. Missouri (No. 5) still has an eye toward the Big Eight title as it plays so-so-Nebraska. Colorado and Missouri are tied for the lead with 3-0 marks while the Jayhawks are 3-0-1. Colorado has a big one against defending champion Oklahoma. Baylor, ranked seventh with a 5-0 mark, also tries to keep its Southwest Conference lead when it plays Texas Christian, which has tied its last two games.

Washington is out of the big five to play Oregon.

The other regional television game pits California at Oregon State, while Atlantic Coast Conference member North Carolina State visits UCLA Saturday night and George Washington is at Air Force in a couple of intersecting games.

Porks Considered for Bluebonnet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials of the Bluebonnet Bowl are considering an Arkansas - Mississippi rematch in the second annual game here Dec. 17.

Ole Miss beat the Hogs 10-7 last week in Little Rock on a disputed field goal on the game's last play.

The two teams are on a list the selection committee is considering. Other teams are Rice, Texas, Baylor, Tennessee, Army, Navy, Missouri and Duke.

Clemson beat Texas Christian in the first Bluebonnet game last year.

Crippled Porks Likely to Find A&M Tough

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks take off today for College Station, Tex., where they return to Southwest Conference football warfare Saturday night against dangerous Texas A&M.

Arkansas will be without three important men — ends Steve Butler and Les Letsinger and fullback Joe Paul Alberty. Butler is one of the team's best pass catchers; Letsinger is the kickoff specialist and a terror at defensive end; and Alberty is a speedy, hard-hitting fullback.

Alberty missed last week's game with Mississippi due to a foot injury and may not be ready for next week's Rice game in Little Rock. Letsinger has a kidney ailment, which is not thought serious; and Butler has a wrenched knee.

The Hogs underwent a minimum contact workout Thursday with emphasis on their passing game, indicating that they plan to go to the air considerably against the Aggies.

Texas A&M has a rather unspectacular passing game but boasts a good running attack spearheaded by fullback Sam Byer, who has gained 247 yards in conference play.

Jim Collier and Jim Gaston will start at ends for Arkansas, with Gaston taking Butler's place. Tim Langston and Hoover Evans will start on the second unit, with Evans replacing Letsinger.

It is Arkansas' fourth Southwest Conference game, and with one loss must win to stay in the running for the title. Rice and Baylor still are unbeaten. The Aggies have a 1-3-2 record but lost to Baylor by only 14-7.

The Razorbacks will fly to College Station and work out there late today. Game time Saturday is 7:30 p.m.

Belgians Asked to Leave Congo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BRUSSELS Belgium (AP) — The Belgian government has received a second letter from U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld asking that Belgian technicians be withdrawn from the Congo officials reported today.

The only official comment has come from Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny who said the first letter offended Belgium and "no participation in the United Nations is possible and useful unless member states are treated correctly."

Wigny told a committee of the House of Representatives Hammarskjöld's demand would be rejected and that he would be withdrawal of Belgian technicians would mean chaos in the Congo.

Tax Evasion Trial Has Ended

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A tax evasion trial in which Vice President Richard M. Nixon almost was called as a witness ended Wednesday.

A U.S. District Court jury deliberated less than an hour and convicted Mark Granite, 78, on four counts of income tax evasion. Judge A. J. Connor imposed a suspended six-month sentence, a $15,000 fine and placed Granite on probation for two years.

The defense had wanted to subpoena Nixon to introduce a letter he had written Granite.

Utah Man Dies at Age of 100

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FAIRVIEW, Utah (AP) — A man married nearly 82 years, who once said that wasn't so long, "especially when we have a whole eternity together before us," died Thursday. He was 100.

Peter Peterson, born Sept. 27, 1860 in a dugout in this central Utah farm town, was an active Mormon and served as mediator between whites and Indians in pioneer days.

His wife, Celestia, will be 100 in December.

They would have celebrated their 82nd wedding anniversary Dec. 11.

THE EASTER DINNER BY DONALD DOWNES

CHAPTER XXXIV

"But, Signorino, what can I tell the women? Where will I say Livio is?" Cicco asked.

"In the country, working, looking after the pigeons."

"The pigeons? I must tell you, I am ashamed and I am miserable. Cicco could look at neither of them. Rosalba's engagement, fests — and Easter Dinner, there was no kid, no lamb, nothing. All my children were hungry. My wife and Rosalba were angry. They wept, and they screamed. So, Signorino, I killed your 23 pigeons for Easter Dinner."

He looked pleadingly at them. "I betrayed you. Can you forgive me?" He glanced quickly at Luchino.

"You ate the pigeons?"

"Yes, Signor! Stuffed."

"But where did you get the other pigeons?" As Luchino spoke he caught sight of Rossini's face and saw he was suppressing laughter.

"Signorino, we — I and Livio — we took them — stole them. I am not a thief, but who didn't steal didn't eat. And to replace your pigeons — so we took the others the same night — I had seen them where you sent us."

"Where I sent you?"

"Yes, to the villas in Parioli to memorize license plates. Livio has — had a sharp memory — that's why you said I could take him, you remember?"

"The SD villa," said Luchino to Rossini. "German birds!"

"So," replied Rossini, "Paolo's messages went directly there. Most convenient in a way. I wonder if they too ate pigeons — stuffed."

The doorbell rang. "Cicco," said Luchino hurriedly. "This must remain a secret — our only secret, from now on. Of course I guarded constantly and carefully you — if you never tell anyone else. Conte Rossini won't tell — and I won't. Go home and come back tomorrow; I'll have a month's pay for you, and remember, all the expenses of the wedding."

ding are paid by the organization."

Partenopa came into the room. "Some American soldiers, Signor!"

"Show them in. And show Rosalba out. Cicco, looking stunned, smiling and weeping together, bowed his way out with a dozen grazie's."

"At least Harrington supplied a starving family with an engagement party," said Rossini. "A clandestine landing of pigeons to eat — stuffed!"

Rossini rocked with laughter, in which Luchino was about to join when it occurred to him that Gligli had given his life, trying to land those pigeons — but he did not tell Rossini his thoughts. The door opened and the Americans came in.

After greetings, Colonel Harrington introduced Major Fleming of the Signal Corps and T-Sergeant Dunn, custodian and trainer of the pigeons. "We have been out to see the pigeons. Lieutenant Macdougall told me how to go there," said the Colonel. "You tell him, Major, what you found."

"In the flock — well housed and well fed, by the way — there were a few of our pigeons; the sergeant was able positively to identify them. But most of them were not ours."

"Extraordinary!" broke in Rossini, emphasizing every syllable of the word.

"They were not," put in the sergeant, "even of the same breed. They must be European stock." "European," as he said it was definitely synonymous with inferior or base. "But they are homers — of a sort."

"I don't doubt your word," Luchino lied gravely, "but how is it possible? These pigeons were secret, from now on. Of course I guarded constantly and carefully you — if you never tell anyone else. Conte Rossini won't tell — and I won't. Go home and come back tomorrow; I'll have a month's pay for you, and remember, all the expenses of the wedding."

"Someone must have substituted these other birds for ours, don't you think?" put in the Major.

"Of course, it's conceivable — but it seemed to me we took every possible precaution. "Our birds" went on the sergeant, "would have come through — I know, because I trained 'em and this proves they weren't our birds. Actually, my professional standing was under a cloud."

"Never mind that, Sergeant," interrupted the Major. "We'll ship these birds by air to Homeing Pigeon Training Project in Virginia — let them see for themselves. Could we question the keeper of these birds?"

"I'm afraid not," Luchino replied. "He's dead. He was killed by the Germans last Friday. But I can assure you there is no question of his fidelity or trustworthiness."

"Then for us it is a closed case," the Major said. "We'll send our report and crate up the pigeons for shipment."

"By the way, Colonel," Luchino addressed Harrington. "Have you heard about the medal for Massimo?"

"Oh, yes. Talked to Farquhar Headquarters. Thursday, in the courtyard of the new offices in Piazza Venezia."

"Would you — could you have the ceremony — Wednesday, in front of the church where his daughter is to be married? The neighbors will see it. You see, he was suspected of working for the Germans because he kept his mouth so shut about our work."

"Why, certainly. What time?"

"The wedding's at 11. Say half past 10?"

"Fine, fine." The Colonel made a note. "Macdougall will be back soon. If it's for the benefit of the old man's neighbors, I'll make it a little — well, military and formal. An honor guard — and all that. It will please Macdougall too, I hope."

"CHIROPRACTOR"
DYSMENORRHEA

A 38-year-old housewife, "I am sick over half my time, spending an average of one week in bed out of each month," she stated recently. "My trouble starts with severe abdominal cramps, nausea and headaches about a week before menstruation. The flow is more copious than is normal, and the week following I am weak and nervous. Have been bothered since I developed into womanhood. I was told then that after my marriage and the birth of children that I would get better."

"But, Dr., I am not any better than I used to be. Can anything be done for cases of my type?"

"Menstruation is a periodic function which requires coordinated action of ovaries and the highly vascular lining of the uterus. Scientific nerve test of above patient indicated a disturbance in the nerve force flow leading into organs of generation. This was causing a weakness of the organs involved and preventing normal function. X-ray Sinographs were taken which showed the exact extent of vertebral misalignment. Corrective spinal adjustments were given, and patient has regained her normal health and functions."
